

House of screams

I wake up. What was it? There it was again. Screams of horror. I hear a knock on my door. Next thing I know there's a pale white face with blood red eyes walking towards me. What do I do? Suddenly it all goes black...

Where am I?

Two oak wood coffins lay there in front of me. One empty, one full. I quietly and carefully open the full one. I gasp it was the same thing that just scared me. Then I feel claws climb up my shoulders.

There it was behind me this is weird. All of a sudden it disappeared But so had I. I was standing in what seemed like a library my library, except that all the books had flown out of the shelves onto the floor. Except one, one small book lay there in front of me tightly in the shelf. I walk over and give it a big pull. I can't get it out its stuck. But first I look at the cover it says ghosts+devils how to get rid of them but I couldn't get it out

Finally after multiple pulls I managed to get it out I read it. It says 'Chapter seven ghosts and how to get rid of them'

I quickly open to that page and read it said: to get rid ghosts go within in 100 meters of it and open this book the ghost will get sucked up by this book. By then. So of I went to find the ghost. In the distance he heard a loud screeching sound like nails on a blackboard I crept downstairs and opened the book a loud screaming sound grew louder and louder then a white hand grabbed onto my face

Next the ghost was sucked in the book and it went silent. By then he was so pale like he was about to faint but it was over. Well at least he thought it was.