BY LOU

One day there was a house called the house of screams. In this house lived a family. This house had a creepy dark attic that had two coffins one empty...

In this house weird things were happening was it this coffins... One night the family was fast asleep and they heard something fall so the dad run up to the attic there was no one to be seen. He looked over at the coffins and it was open...

The next night the dad made the 5 year old girl called veronica to see what was making that noise was so she slept in the creepy attic she tried to stay awake but hours passed and 3 her eyes were shutting and there's a bang! She looks at the creepy dusty bookcase and there's hand putting books on the floor. The girl lets out a deadly scream. So the dad comes running up to the attic. But everything was back to normal but veronica was gone...

This time the coffin was not open but it said RIP Veronica...
